Holiday season is already upon us, and it seems like just yesterday I was writing my article for the summer Grapevine. A lot has happened this past year. Our networking dinners have been a huge success, and we look forward to Tony Rubino's guidance in making them even better in 2010. We also partnered with the Italian American Alliance for Business and Technology (IAABT) as cosponsor to the special presentation by Ducati Motorcycle. This event not only gave our members an occasion to garner additional networking opportunities, it put the IACC in the spotlight to an even larger and more diverse audience. It is my hope that we can continue to work with the IAABT in cosponsoring these events. With that said, I would encourage everyone to try to attend as many of these events as they possibly can in 2010. Finally, we were able to solidify the Business Sponsorship criteria for our organization. I believe this new classification will allow us to strengthen the IACC, and I'm proud to report that we have our first official Business Sponsor. Henry Ford Hospital of Macomb has enthusiastically joined our organization and is looking forward to taking part in all we do.

CHAIRMAN'S CORNER

Thoughts for the month

Felice Compliano

Italian greeting for Happy Birthday this year marks the Chambers 90th birthday. The Italians also have another proverb. "Anni e Eichieri di Vino non si contano mai" which means our age and glasses of wine we never count. Well, The Italian American Chamber of Commerce is very proud of their 90 years of hard work and achievements.

It all started in 1919 when a small group of professionals and business owners of Italian decent decided to express the pride of their heritage. It came at a time in our history when the Italian immigrants in this country were not readily accepted. The Italian people were all considered to be less than model citizens. They were all considered to be in the underworld or mafia as it was known back in those days. This was far from the truth even though the underworld was active then.

Through the example and exemplary work ethics of these men and their constituents the true vale, strong character, and wealth of knowledge was slowly beginning to be recognized in our metropolitan area. Through the vision and realized need to have the Italian professional and businessmen's value recognized and accepted, the Chamber was formed.

During the early days in the auto industry the workforce was being made up of many Italian immigrants. Their work ethics were un-presidential and the upper management realized and applauded how they would work diligently, often times without a break. This was something for our people to be proud of, but management was still not ready to allow our people to move beyond the workforce in the plants. There were times when in order to become part of management it was suggested the candidate, even though fully qualified, should change his name to appear more American. This was prevalent in other businesses and professions.

With these facts in mind the Italian American Chamber of Commerce encouraged the growth necessary to band together to demonstrate and prove the Italian Americans are worthy of many jobs at all levels, political, official or professional positions or business in the Detroit metropolitan area.

The meetings then were a lot different than what we enjoy now. The Chamber met in basements of homes, or at the businesses of the members with simple meals and perhaps a homemade wine. We are also told that during the two world wars, they would meet in secret, because Italians were considered to be enemies of the cause: and of course they were afraid of repercussions.

MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS

Winter 2009

By William A. Morelli, Sr.

Thought's to Live By:

As we enter this most joyous time of the year, we need to reflect on our lives and our relationships and pledge to try to be the best we can in all we do. To help with that desire, I would like to offer the following thoughts to improve your day to day relationships:.

Kindness: Giving is often thought of in terms of the gifts we give, but our greatest giving is of our time, and kindness, and even comfort for those who need it. We look on these little things as unimportant – until we need them.

Generosity: He who is not generous with what he has deceives himself when he thinks he would be more generous if he had more

Pleasures There are two things to aim for in life: first, to get what you want; and, after that, to enjoy it.
Simple: Only the wisest of mankind achieves the second.

Attitude: Every life has dark and cheerful hours. Happiness comes from choosing which to remember.

Marriage: A successful marriage requires falling in love many times, always with the same person.

Parenting: Remember that a child's character is like good soup – both are homemade. The qualities of kindness, responsibility, honesty, and pleasantrity must be taught – not just hoped for.

One last thing, please remember to contribute each time you see a red kettle with someone collecting for the poor. If you can't put anything in the kettle, at least say a prayer for the needy.

Merry Christmas to all!

And remember to Smile, Give Hugs, and Tell Someone You Love Them.

William A. Morelli, Sr.

There was a great deal of enthusiasm because the members realized the need of their mission. There was a large population of Italians on the eastside of Detroit. As the membership grew it was able to help the young struggling politicians in the day.

Through the backing of the Chamber members and their campaigning efforts, we began to see Italian candidates being elected to office. I believe that when the professional and business community saw this happening they began to see the value of this organization. With that in mind the Chamber began to grow and prosper. At one time we were well over 700 members.

When we look now at all the Italian names prevalent and recognized in all walks of life including the medical field, the arts, music, law and high ranking business fields, I can't help but feel that the vision of the first and early members of this organization had a great deal to do with it. Many of you will remember names like Cardiello, Schippacasse, Esperti, Mancuso, Viviano, Valente, Sr., Loverdi, Cuomo, Calcaterra, Ripepi, Bonaldi, Lucido, Baker, Giuliano, Dr. Carbone, Dr. DiLaretto, Judges DeMasio, Bucci, Jeannette and many more, too numerous to mention. All these names at some point were members of this fine southeastern Michigan based organization. They included businesses and professional people who had one thing in common," they were proud of their Italian heritage."

Here we are today! Struggling with membership and the financial resources we need to carry out our present mission. Is it that the Italian American in the professional, political and business field has become so successful that we don't need each other anymore? I believe we are in economical times when we need each other just as much as in the days when it was not popular to be Italian.

This organization is working hard to help each other by demonstrating what we as individual members do for a living with our networking programs. We have a fine guest speakers programs to enlighten us on other things that are happening around us. We also are trying to partner with other Italian based organizations not only to learn from them but also to do business with them.

We still find time to step back from our day to day struggles to have a great dinner and a glass of wine with our old and new friends. It has been 90 years for this fine organization. A lot has changed through the years and yet a lot is still the same.

Be proud to be Italian and be proud to be a member of this great organization.

Happy Birthday Italian American Chamber of Commerce

Your Chairman of the Board,

Paul R. Calcaterra

P.S. This is the last Grapevine of the year and I would like to wish everyone a happy and blessed Christmas and New Year!

Notes from the President

January will not only bring with it a new year, it will bring a new president to the IACC, Tom Bommarito. Those of you, who know Tom, know that he will bring a passion to his role as president. I can only hope that you give him the same support you so graciously gave me this past year. I would like to thank each and every one of you, for it has been my sincere honor to serve you. May the holidays bring you warmth, laughter and reflection, God Bless.

Ned R. Piccinini
President

MICHIGAN ITALIAN-AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CELEBRATES 90 YEARS

Ninety years ago during a period of Tin Lizzies, unpaved roads, no television or modern technology the Italian American Chamber of Commerce Michigan Chapter emerged as a group of Italian American Detroit based men who were proud of their heritage. They have met regularly since 1919 and today celebrate their 90-year anniversary.

According to Frank Pompa, archive chairperson, the original group met upstairs above a hardware store on Gratiot Avenue. During the two world wars they would meet in secret because they were afraid of repercussions of the war.

This fine southeastern Michigan based organization includes businesses and professional people who have one thing in common, they are proud of their Italian heritage and look forward to celebrating 100 years in 2019.

The Italian American Chamber of Commerce (IACC) is a business association founded in 1907 to provide services to the Italian business community and to American businesses oriented to the Italian market or products. The Chamber's primary goals are promoting the member activities as well as promoting trade relations between Italy and the United States. The Michigan chapter was established in 1919. For more information on the organization go online to www.iaccm.org.
